

Go Eventing!

Powder Basin Equestrian Association would like to encourage horsemen and women in this area to learn and practice lifelong skills of classical riding. We are offering free mentorship to learn the worldwide standards and rules of Dressage, Show Jumping and Cross-country galloping and jumping. If you have a horse and would like to join the fun, please contact us and we will endeavor to get you started in the right direction.

“All training exercises follow one another in such a way that the preceding exercise always constitutes a secure basis for the next one. Violations of this rule will always exert payment later on; not only by a triple loss of time but very frequently by resistances, which for along time, if not forever, interfere with the relationship between horse and rider.

-Gustav Steinbrecht

If your goal is not to compete, but just learn to ride English, we can help you out. There is never any hurry to “get your horse trained before a certain age” and you can go as far as you desire. This is a sport that men and woman do equally well at, and horses are not restricted by age.

If you don't have a horse but would like learn about what we do, we are always looking for volunteers to help run our competitions. We appreciate any and all help, and it's a great way to get to know people who love horses.

Powder Basin Equestrian uses this website exclusively for information, updates and news about our activities and other groups in Wyoming and the surrounding states.
